

Multiple System Atrophy Trust

Multiple System Atrophy (MSA) is a devastating progressive neurological disease which affects all of the body's basic functions. MSA causes deterioration in areas of the brain needed for movement, balance, swallowing, speech and continence. It leads to premature death and there is currently no known cause or cure.

The Multiple System Atrophy Trust is the only organisation covering the UK and Ireland specifically focused on supporting people affected by MSA. Our Mission is to find the cause and, ultimately, cure for MSA. Until that day, we will do all we can to support people affected by the condition and to strive to ensure that they are not alone on their individual journeys.

MSA is an extremely cruel and unforgiving condition.

Supporting us today will help us provide vital services to those affected by the condition and hopefully find a cure.

Please help us and all those affected by MSA.

Here are some things you might take for granted that are lost through MSA:

MSA can feel like a never ending series of losses. For many people the moment of diagnosis is a devastating experience. However, the MSA Trust is always there to support anyone affected by MSA.

Please support us today so that we can continue providing vital support to those affected by the condition.

Can't enjoy a walk in nature

"I previously had a very active life out and about, fell walking, energetic playing with grand-children, all lost very quickly."

Loneliness and isolated

"It's tough – it's exhausting – it's the unknown"

Can't breathe in the fresh air

"It affects every aspect of my life. I can't ever forget about it as it affects everything, my speech, my swallowing, my walking, my balance and coordination and it has made me incontinent."

Robbed entirely of your future

"I went through what can only be described as a grieving process. For the life we would never have".
